SAMPLE — made-up business. Shows what a real audit looks like.

Free mini-audit · Summit Roofing (made up) · https://summit-roofing.example/ · checked 17 October 2026

3 places where jobs slip through, and how to catch them automatically

Prepared for Summit Roofing (made up) by Sebastian, Codru Atelier. Everything here comes from your public website and Google listing.

Where jobs slip through

NEEDS WORK	Answering enquiries fast	Phone only: no contact form, booking or text option on the site
NEEDS WORK	Calls outside opening hours	Promises 24/7 or emergency help, but lists hours "Mon–Fri 7am–5pm"
NEEDS WORK	Booking or quotes online	No way to book or ask for a quote online
NEEDS WORK	Asking for reviews	12 Google reviews (rating 4.6)
NEEDS WORK	Speed on a phone	Mobile PageSpeed score 31 of 100 (loads in about 7.4 s)
NEEDS WORK	Texting with customers	No text or WhatsApp option on the site

The 3 fixes I would start with

1. Answer every enquiry within a minute

What I saw: Phone only: no contact form, booking or text option on the site
What it can cost: About 27% of calls to home-service businesses go unanswered (Invoca data, reported by ServiceMag). (industry estimate, not your numbers)
How it works: A missed call or web enquiry gets a friendly reply at once → You get a text with their name, number and job → A reminder if nobody follows up in 15 minutes
Effort: ready in 7–10 days. Ask me for the 60-second demo video.

2. Catch the calls you miss after hours

What I saw: Promises 24/7 or emergency help, but lists hours "Mon–Fri 7am–5pm"
What it can cost: About $1,200 in lost work per missed call (Invoca data, reported by ServiceMag). (industry estimate, not your numbers)
How it works: A missed call gets a text back within a minute → The customer says what they need, by text → You get it as a lead first thing in the morning
Effort: ready in 7–10 days. Ask me for the 60-second demo video.

3. Let customers ask for a quote online

What I saw: No way to book or ask for a quote online
What it can cost: Housecall Pro says 70% of customers prefer to book online (their figure; no study cited). (industry estimate, not your numbers)
How it works: A short quote form, built for phones → An instant confirmation to the customer → The request lands in your phone and calendar
Effort: ready in 5–7 days. Ask me for the 60-second demo video.

Your site on a phone

31

Speed score on a phone, out of 100 (Google PageSpeed Insights). Loads in about 7.4 s. 90+ is good, under 50 is slow.
Google has too few visits to show real-visitor data yet, so this is a lab test.

Other things I checked

No business details (schema) in the page code for Google to read · The home page has no search description · Lighthouse accessibility score 78 of 100 (basic check).

Want me to set up the first one for you? Starter projects from $500, fixed price, ready in 7 to 10 days. Just reply to my email.

How I checked: Google PageSpeed Insights (mobile), your public website pages and your public Google listing, on 17 October 2026. Every number about your business was measured that day. Cost figures are industry estimates, not your numbers: https://www.housecallpro.com/learn/business-promotional-ideas/, https://www.servicemag.org/news/hvac-after-hours-calls-overnight-revenue.
Sebastian · Codru Atelier · (sample: your postal address goes here)